2. BestMark

BestMark is a mystery shopping job and pay based on your location. You can get paid to shop and give the review. They also will reimburse your cost of service.

3. User Testing

UserTesting will pay for your evaluation of a new website that they send you via email after you sign up. The evaluation is usually taking up about 15-20 minutes, the payment usually around $10-15 per website.

Perk is growing rapidly and constantly adding new ways to make extra income. You can download one of their many apps, including their popular Perk TV. Now they even have an app that actually pays you to watch TV in your home.

5. TopCashBack

This website is unique in that it gives you 100% commission when you shop through them. They don't take a cut. They're able to do this by allowing businesses to be featured on their homepage. In other words, they are paid by the advertisers, which work out in your favor!

6. Zoombucks

Another website that pays you to watch videos, but they also pay for contests, completing offers, playing games, and much more. Zoombucks will keep you busy earning extra income.

Tips

- Make a separate email account. You can use your personal email if you want, but it's best to set up a new email account that is specifically dedicated to making extra income. This will keep your personal inbox clear and it will make it easier to organize emails from these specific websites.
- Don't use these websites as a bank. As soon as you reach the minimum for withdrawal, take your money. You never know if and when the website could unexpectedly close. This way, you also won't have to worry about any errors with funds that you store at the website.
- Don't forget to pay your taxes. You may be surprised to find that you can easily earn a few thousand dollars over the course of a year. The government will be interested in this new endeavor as well. Make sure to claim the money as extra income and report it properly on your taxes at the end of the year.
